III. 1 What did you like about the class?

it was not to word it got to the point.

It was exactly what I was looking for which was a general overview of web design and the various programming languages used. It also provided online tools/resources for self-study, which was a key component that I was looking for.

Focused, well-presented, instructor very knowledgeable and well-prepared. Knows how to teach.

It provided a good basis of understanding on how to create a website and what goes on beyond simply the content one should have on a website.

Great information on understanding web page design

I liked the presentation, interactivity. I like that he never rejected an answer but only encouraged us to get closer to that for which he was looking. It was an interesting and challenging class. He's very very nice and that's a huge plus in an instructor. Additionally, it seemed as though he had answers for all that we asked.

that it was interactive - kept me awake and interested. It provided the overview I wanted.

Class was very organized, easy to follow and understand. Instructor did a good job of defining new concepts and vocabulary.

III. 2 What didn't you like about the class?

No comment.

I could have used less time spent on html/css/javascript because in my experience a brief intro does not prepare someone to practice using these. I would have liked more color theory and layout theory.

Nothing.

Not enough opportunity to do practice exercises

I like how he has a lot of real_world knowledge so we could think in terms of real_world application. I like that he has a lot of website experience also so he could speak to so many aspects of website development. I'm sure there's more but I'm a bit tired this morning. Thanks!! GREAT class!!

Of course, it didn't stay on the topics that I wanted to stay on for enough time - but how can you fix that with an overview... it's an individual thing

I felt the price was too high ($262) for the level of content imparted over 4 three hour session. This was a very basic introduction to ideas that must be considered in web design which in itself is very informative and important but does not give one the skill set needed to successfully design a website.

III. 3 What improvements would you suggest?

No comment.

Have as part of prerequisites that students have gone to codeacademy.com and practiced html and css there. Even javascript.

I would have like to know a little more about mobile design. The design for web on mobile devices are very different in looks as well as in coding. Understanding standard conventions would have been very helpful.

More examples of web design to work with. Possibly a list of commands for HTML and actually using it from scratch using note Pages.

not sure

I'd like to see more homework - more interaction with the book that we bought for class. I really feel we didn't need to buy the book for the class. However, I've glanced through it and think it's good. Maybe "read this chapter" and have a short quiz at the beginning of each class?

Would like practice/opportunity to design a complete website.

III. 4 What other classes would you like to see offered?

No comment.

HTML

not sure

Windows 8 (just can't figure out how to use it : ) Online marketing data analytics. I want to see more interaction with the classes... more homework, more exercises. I want to see less broad covering of a subject - I want to master a topic in a 4 or 5 session term. Less subjects within the topic. That's my wish list at least : )
