III. 1 What did you like about the class?

Step by step instructions and walking through examples.
Professor's attitude toward students.
Utilizing Dreamweaver as an IDE, as it was fairly robust. Instructor answering all questions was nice as well.
Learned a lot
Great professor, thorough. He even dedicated extra time to catch up on what we missed because of school closures. Also very patient
The dedication of the instructor.
Carl is one of those rare teachers who consistently changes the presentation mode to fit his student's needs.He has added Camtasia recordings as well as his ppts to his website- He is always willing to answer questions- During snow days- of which we had 2, Carl set up webinars and extended lab time on Sat to make sure that all of the material was covered.
Instructor was very patient, knew the content, and presented the material in a professional, clear, and concise manner.

How prepared Professor Burnett was for the class.

The instructor.

He have patience and teach me so I can understand /

Strong coverage of the material, yet very personal and interactive. Excellent instruction.

III. 2   What didn't you like about the class?

Getting used to Windows 8 (from experience with Windows 7) and Dreamweaver software.

Slow paced.

The pace was far too slow, but that couldn't be helped.

Maybe it goes a little too fast, but ???

n/a

The fact that we were cancelled out for 2 sessions due to inclement weather.

I think that all of the WDE courses move too quickly- Studies have demonstrated that brains need time to reflect on what is being taught every 20-30 minutes- None of the WDE computer courses have that built into the sessions

Classes too long.

Possibly a better book. It was a little tough, maybe as there is so much content, to follow "how" we should solve the problem that the book told us to do.

Snow days.

III. 3   What improvements would you suggest?

More of a focus on hands-on exercises in Dreamweaver.
Decrease to ~ 95% of current speed.
It would be nice to be able to access from home in order to catch- up or do additional exercises maybe one or two more sessions. 5 sessions seems to be very short for all the material that needs to be covered.
After a student has completed the class a document should be provided with the complete solutions to all exercises.
I always like exercises where we have to write out things. Possibly having us write out the hierarchies and their meaning would help imprint their place in the code early on?
Cant think of any.

III. 4   What other classes would you like to see offered?

Programming fundamentals which was canceled.
computer systems
Advanced FLASH, Captivate, Articulate
